CIA Resolution to Get Hearing

The office of Rep. Emilio Q. Daddario, D-First District, said Tuesday he will testify today before the Rules Committee in support of his proposal to have Congress establish a special oversight committee for the Central Intelligence Agency. Daddario is a former military intelligence officer. His is one several similar resolutions which reflect the feeling of some members of Congress that the CIA now operates without any real checks. The various proposals have been opposed by members of the Armed Services and Appropriations committees who maintain that they keep a close watch on CIA operations through the reports they receive in secret sessions.
